After breakfast at our hotel, we bid farewell to Barcelona and head towards Valencia, the third largest city in Spain. After a pleasant journey along the Mediterranean coast, we will begin our panoramic city tour to discover the cultural and historical riches of Valencia upon arrival. Among the first striking structures will be the futuristic City of Arts and Sciences (Ciutat de les Arts i les Ciències), designed by the genius of modern architecture, Santiago Calatrava. We will then visit Valencia Cathedral, an important example of Gothic architecture, and the symbolic Micalet Bell Tower.
