The Hermitage Museum, founded in 1764 by Empress Catherine II, has a unique collection that is considered one of the largest and most established art museums in the world today. Initially created as Catherine's private art collection, the museum grew over time with purchases and donations made during the imperial period and was opened to the public in 1852. The museum consists of a total of six historical buildings, including the Winter Palace, which dazzles with its baroque architecture. These structures not only host art pieces but also the glorious past of the Russian Empire. Especially the seizure of the Winter Palace during the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution was one of the most symbolic moments in Russian history. The Hermitage collection includes works by masters of world art such as Leonardo da Vinci, Rembrandt, Michelangelo, Raphael, Rubens, Van Gogh, Monet, and Picasso. Additionally, archaeological artifacts from ancient Egypt, Greece, and Rome are of great interest. With over 3 million works, the Hermitage is not just a museum but also a cultural temple where art and history intertwine. It offers every visitor a glimpse of the past's glory and humanity's artistic heritage. The tour will continue with the Peter and Paul Fortress, the first structure built by Peter in St. Petersburg in the 1700s, located on the Neva River.
