Novi Sad began to urbanize in 1694 when Serbian merchants established a trading colony opposite the Petrovaradin fortress. Novi Sad, which was under the Ottoman Empire from 1526 to 1687, later became a city under the Austro-Hungarian Empire. Novi Sad is the capital of the Vojvodina region in northern Serbia and one of the centers of culture, art, and economy in the country. Since the 20th century, almost all Serbian poets, writers, and journalists have spent part or all of their lives here. Known as the Athens of Serbia, Novi Sad is also a complete student city and offers many opportunities for young people. Hosting one of Europe's largest music festivals, the Exit Music Festival, which young people eagerly await every year, and receiving the title of European Youth Capital in 2019 is proof of this. You can see this youthful influence in its streets and cafe-bars. Among the places we will see in Novi Sad are Saint George's Cathedral, Orthodox Bishop's Palace, Novi Sad City Hall, Trg Slobode (Freedom Square), Catholic Mary Church, and Petrovaradin Fortress. After our visit to Novi Sad, we set off towards the capital of Bosnia and Herzegovina, SARAJEVO. This tekke, located in a natural wonder, will impress you greatly. We arrive in MOSTAR from the banks of the Buna River. The city of Mostar, built on both sides of the Neretva River, was one of the administrative and cultural centers of Bosnia during the Ottoman period. In our tour, we first visit the Historic Mostar Bridge, which was built in 1557 by Mimar Hayreddin, a student of Mimar Sinan, but was destroyed during the war in 1993 and rebuilt in 2004 with significant support from Turkey using special materials and stones. This bridge, listed as a UNESCO World Heritage site, is a symbol that unites not only two banks but also different cultures. We visit the historical Koski Mehmet Bey Mosque to view the Mostar Bridge and the Karagöz Mosque. We see the Martyrdoms left from the war. We also visit the Jeweler's Bazaar and complete our tour, giving free time in Mostar's rich bazaar. After our free time, we return to our hotel in the evening.

Gün 8 — SARAYBOSNA-IZMIR

After having breakfast at our hotel, we begin our walking tour in Sarajevo, which has served as the cultural capital of the Balkans for two centuries and is considered the Jerusalem of Europe due to its religious diversity. Although it suffered great destruction during the war in 1992 between Serbs, Croats, and Bosniaks, it still retains much of its beauty. We start our walking tour by seeing the Old Library, the Sebilj Fountain, the House of Inat, the Hünkâr Mosque, and the Latin Bridge, where the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand, which triggered World War I, took place in 1914.
